Online

Though often described as a philosopher, Hannah Arendt rejected that label on the grounds that philosophy is concerned with "man in the singular" and instead described herself as a political theorist because her work centers on the fact that "men", not Man, live on the earth and inhabit the world. Her works deal with the nature of power, and the subjects of politics, direct democracy, authority, and totalitarianism.

Facilitated by Sue Einhorn and Carmen O'Leary who propose to meet every 6 weeks to allow time to read the relevant papers.

To get started, participants are invited to an introductory read of Hannah Arendt's Wikipedia page.
